Business and Consumer Surveys April 2008

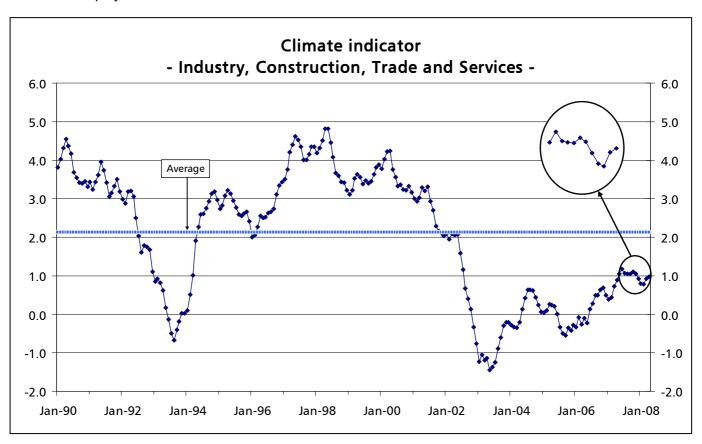

The economic climate indicator slightly increased and the Consumer confidence indicator recovered in April

The economic climate indicator slightly increased in the last two months. The behaviour observed in April was different in the several sectors, with the confidence indicator recovering in Services and Construction and Public Works and declining in Manufacturing Industry and Trade.

In April, the Consumer confidence indicator recovered, stopping the downward trend started in November 2006, after recording the minimum value since June 2003.

In Services¹, the confidence indicator recovered, more intensely than in the previous month, due to the opinions on the business evolution and the demand perspectives positive contributions. In Construction and Public Works, the confidence indicator increased in the first four months of the year, registering the highest value since September 2002. On the contrary, in Trade, the confidence indicator diminished slightly in April, driven only by the decline observed in Retail. In Manufacturing Industry, the confidence indicator declined, more intensely than in March, as consequence of the increase in the opinions balance about the stocks evolution and of the decrease in the demand perspectives balance.

In April, the Consumer confidence indicator recovered due to the perspectives about the evolution of the country's economic situation (registering the highest positive contribution), the household's financial situation and the unemployment evolution.
